

Oregon Wine Board Service Overview

This document is intended to provide those interested in serving on the Oregon Wine Board with an overview of the responsibilities, commitment, and processes entailed in Board service. If you have questions not addressed here, contact us.

Board appointment and term of service

The terms of Board service are outlined in Oregon statute ORS 576.856

- The Board is composed of nine directors.
- Directors are appointed by the governor. There is no other confirmation process.
- A term is three years and begins on January 1; reappointment to a second term is possible.
- Appointments are confirmed in the fall and newly appointed Directors are expected to attend the regular Board meeting in December prior to the start of their term.
- While there are no official quotas to be filled or specifications for any of the nine seats on the Oregon Wine Board, governors have historically aimed to create a Board comprised of Directors representing a diversity of regions, business sizes and models, demographics, and functional expertise.
- Service on the Oregon Wine Board is unpaid.

Director responsibilities and expectations

The Oregon Wine Board of Directors guides the organization by setting strategic direction and allocating resources in service to the strategic plan.

To ensure a fully functioning governing body capable of making effective decisions on behalf of the Oregon wine industry, Directors are expected to:

- Commit 10-15 hours per month to Board service.
 - Special circumstances may create an increased demand for time spent.
- Prepare for, attend, and participate in all Board meetings.
 - There are typically five (5) full-day Board meetings each year. They may be virtual or in-person in any of Oregon's winegrowing regions, which may require overnight travel.
 - Travel expenses (mileage, hotels, food) for Board meetings are covered and/or reimbursable.
- Actively participate in and/or chair at least one Board committee. Committees include:
 - Education Committee (with sub-committees focused on 1) viticulture and enology and 2) sales, marketing, and business)
 - Technical Research Committee
 - Marketing & Communications Committee (with task forces that support specific areas of work, e.g. tourism, market expansion)
 - International Committee
 - Other standing or ad hoc committees as determined by the Board

- Actively participate in conversations among the Board between meetings (i.e., over email or via phone).
- When fulfilling Board duties and making decisions:
 - Fulfill the commitment to consider and fairly represent ALL regions of the state.
 - Carefully weigh the interests of growers, winemakers, and other industry stakeholders.
 - Factor the concerns of all wine and wine grape businesses, accounting for geography, size, and business model.
- Support the Oregon Wine Board's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
- Represent the Oregon Wine Board among industry stakeholders.

Further, the State of Oregon's Guidelines for Board Service outline the following:

- Complete state-mandated training for new board/commission members within six months of term start date.
- Recognize the Board must operate in a public and open manner.
- Learn about issues affecting the Board and industry.
- Examine all available evidence before making judgement.
- Authority to act is granted to the Board as a whole, not to individual members.

Note: State law places special emphasis on regular attendance. In ORS 182.010, it says that a member who has two successive, unexcused absences "shall forfeit his or her office unless prevented from attending" for reasonable cause.
